Dear Stuart:

Your message was directly relevant, inspiring, unforgettable, and immediately usable by all of our attendees. Here are just some of the many speaker elements we all appreciated from your presentations:

1. It isn't every day you get to see a nationally rated professional speaker who lives with the rare neurological disorder Tourette Syndrome. Your message definitely inspired us all to overcome any adversity.
2. You definitely took the time to capture and share the leadership and excellence that already exists in our people! Instead of offering a template program, we greatly appreciated the way you conducted a thorough assessment of our Supervisors and Directors.
3. No other speaker or trainer has ever taken the step to video shoot and then edit our people overnight directly into their sales excellence program.
4. No other speaker or trainer has ever invited select front line people from our organization to report on their own existing excellence success stories or the suggested new actions you gave to them before the training to then have them report on their success outcomes

What we all witnessed was your unique way of keeping everyone focused and at attention. You definitely 'positively traumatized' our people into new action by ensuring your entire session was edu-taining and full of participative exercise.

Thank you for the use of having all of our attendees sign a compelling Commitment Oath Document based on our learning metrics. Our people are now very much focused on following through on a focused post training action plan.

Sincerely yours,
